KEY RELATIONSHIPS

Of all the district leaders, assistant governors generally have the most frequent contact with clubs, relaying information between the club, district, and Rotary International. Communication is essential to working with club and district leaders. Your key contacts include:

District leaders	Club leaders
Governor	Presidents
Governor-elect	Secretaries
Governor-nominee	Executive secretaries
Committee chairs	Treasurers
Other assistant governors	Committee chairs
Executive secretaries, where applicable	Trainers
Past district governors

Discuss your district’s communication plan with these leaders to make sure everyone shares information effectively. Your plan should include how and when you communicate with clubs, the district governor, your fellow assistant governors, and district committee members.

TRAINING

In addition to the district team training seminar, which will help prepare you for your role as assistant governor, you are expected to attend other district training events. These meetings expand clubs’ knowledge about Rotary and help them become more effective. Appendix 1: Rotary Training Events has more information about each seminar’s purpose and intended audience. As you work with your assigned clubs, be sure to promote attendance and participation in these district meetings.

You also can coordinate training events for your assigned clubs as needed, using the district committees as resources. For example, if a club wants to learn more about The Rotary Foundation, you can ask a member of the district Rotary Foundation committee to help the club develop a training curriculum, or to talk about the Foundation at a club meeting.

Encourage all your assigned clubs to appoint a club trainer if they don’t already have one. A club trainer can facilitate training for prospective, new, and experienced members, addressing topics such as Rotary’s programs, online tools, and service opportunities.

WORKING WITH CLUBS

You are the key support person for your assigned clubs. Be available to the club presidents, and offer ideas and guidance throughout the year. Make sure they know that you are there to help them achieve their goals.

VIBRANT CLUBS

Rotary clubs often benefit from examining their practices and traditions to determine what is working well and what is not. Start with the Rotary Club Health Check to identify areas for improvement. Encourage clubs to evaluate themselves regularly using Membership Assessment Tools, and to think of innovative ways to become more vibrant. Offer them best practices for strong clubs, such as:

- Develop long-term goals that address the elements of an effective club.
- Set annual goals that support these long-term goals.
- Hold club assemblies to keep members informed and involved.
- Promote regular communication among club leaders, club members, and district leaders.
- Ensure continuity in leadership and service projects from year to year.
- Customize club bylaws to reflect club practices.
- Provide opportunities for members to develop stronger relationships with one another.
- Ensure that every member is active in a club project or function.

The Strategic Planning Guide helps clubs create a vision and set long-term and annual goals.

- Offer regular, consistent training.
- Assign committees that support club needs.
- Participate in the Presidential Citation program.

Encourage club leaders to be flexible and try new ideas. Suggest that they evaluate club practices and work with incoming and past leaders to customize a leadership plan that works best for their club. Above all, help your clubs create a culture that welcomes new members and keeps current members coming back.

GOALS

To develop district goals, work with your governor-elect and other members of the district leadership team, using the District Planning Guide as a resource. Although club and district goals may differ, they should complement each other.

Club goals should align with Rotary's strategic plan and the Presidential Citation, and should be set in Rotary Club Central.

Clubs can earn the Presidential Citation by achieving specific goals, defined by the RI president, that strengthen clubs and Rotary as a whole. Rotary Club Central is a one-stop shop for managing and tracking a club's goals. It provides information about club membership, service, public relations, and fundraising trends. Encourage clubs to use these figures in setting goals and to enter their goals into this tool, which will allow incoming club leaders to review their club's history and district leaders to track their progress. Rotary Club Central fosters continuity of leadership, promotes transparency, and saves paper. Learn more in the Rotary Club Central Resources course in the Learning Center.

Goal setting is crucial to a successful Rotary year because it provides a plan of action. A basic goal-setting process includes:

1. Analyzing clubs' strengths and weaknesses

Before the presidents-elect training seminar (PETS), meet with club presidents-elect to examine past club trends and current practices, and to consider goals. Suggest goals that can improve club operations.

2. Developing goals

Goals should be shared, measurable, challenging, achievable, and time specific. Work with club leaders to establish goals that will help their clubs function effectively, and that will involve a variety of activities to engage all members. During PETS, work with club presidents-elect to draft these goals. See that club presidents enter the goals into Rotary Club Central by 1 July.

3. Action planning

Once a club develops its goals, be sure it has an action plan to achieve them.

Once you create a My Rotary account and your district governor assigns you a club group, you can view your assigned clubs' information and enter goals on their behalf in Rotary Club Central.

4. Evaluating progress

Encourage club presidents to keep their goals current and to track their progress in Rotary Club Central so you can review this information before visiting. During your visits, discuss the club's progress with the board.

SUPPORTING CLUBS

You're an important resource for your assigned clubs. Because you interact with a variety of clubs, you can observe a wide range of approaches to common issues, and you can share insights that can help clubs meet their goals and overcome challenges.

Understanding each club's needs and strengths is crucial to providing helpful guidance. To support clubs:

- Be available and approachable.
- Give special attention to weak clubs.
- Tailor your support to individual clubs.
- Connect clubs that excel in a particular area with clubs that are struggling.
- Monitor clubs' progress toward their goals in Rotary Club Central.

Sharing information

Clear communication is vital to any organization, including Rotary. As the liaison between club and district leaders, you should share information about clubs' strengths and weaknesses with the district governor, governor-elect, appropriate district committees, and most important, the person who will succeed you as assistant governor. These discussions will promote continuity, improve the management of ongoing challenges, and allow appointees to become familiar with clubs before they take office.

You also can act as a liaison among Rotary clubs. Your regular contact with clubs will allow you to observe their progress, share their successes, and encourage cooperation.

The governor may ask you to discuss the following items with your assigned clubs:

- Paying the RI club invoice, and district and club dues
- Updating member lists and club information on My Rotary
- Viewing data from reports
- Submitting new club officer information to RI by 1 February for inclusion in the Official Directory
- Earning Rotary awards
- Attending the district conference, district training assembly, PETS, and other district events

Talk to your district membership chair about the individual qualities of your assigned clubs. This information will help the chair determine which club might be the best fit for prospective members.

Encourage your clubs to subscribe to Rotary Leader.

When club leaders create an account on My Rotary and become familiar with its features, your job will be easier. They can use it to update membership lists, change contact information, pay club invoices, and enter annual goals.

Visiting clubs

Visit each club regularly — quarterly if possible. If face-to-face meetings aren't feasible, hold an online meeting or conference call. During your discussions:

- Provide the club with information about RI and district resources.
- Inquire about the club's progress toward its goals.
- Ask about membership, service projects, support of the Foundation, important club functions, and club morale.
- Discuss the club's strengths and how it can apply those skills to other areas.
- Suggest practical solutions to club problems.
- Schedule the governor's visit, if requested.

Using the Rate Clubs tool

Rate Clubs is a feature in Rotary Club Central that allows you to report clubs' practices, accomplishments, and weaknesses, and helps you track which clubs the governor has visited.

You and the governor should use this tool to leave comments about a club after each visit. You can comment on and view ratings for your assigned clubs only; the governor and governor-elect can do so for all clubs in the district. These ratings and comments will serve as a reference for you and your district governor. Clubs will not be able to view them.

Attending club assemblies

Rotary clubs are encouraged to hold four to six club assemblies a year. These meetings give all members a chance to discuss activities and ideas for the future. An assembly is typically held during the governor's visit, and you are expected to be present. Talk to club leaders about which of the other assemblies you'll attend and what your role will be.

Encourage club leaders to name their successors on My Rotary so district leaders can contact them about club business.

CLUBS REQUIRING SPECIAL ATTENTION

A few clubs may need special attention from you and other district leaders. These clubs generally have difficulty meeting membership, financial, or other minimum standards established by the RI Board of Directors.

Minimum standards for Rotary clubs

To ensure that clubs are functioning effectively, the RI Board has adopted these minimum standards for every Rotary club:

- Meets regularly
- Implements service projects that address the needs of the local community and communities in other countries
- Accepts the visit of the assistant governor, governor, or any officer of Rotary International
- Pays per capita dues to RI
- Subscribes to a Rotary World Magazine Press publication
- Maintains liability insurance appropriate for the region (United States only)
- Acts in a manner consistent with the RI Constitution and Bylaws and Rotary Code of Policies
- Pays RI membership and district dues without outside assistance
- Provides accurate membership lists to RI in a timely manner
- Resolves club disputes amicably
- Maintains cooperative relations with the district
- Cooperates with RI by not initiating or maintaining litigation against Rotary International, The Rotary Foundation, the associate foundations, and the international offices of the Secretariat
- Follows and completes the election review process established in the RI Bylaws

Work with your clubs to make sure they exceed the minimum standards. Much of the information used to determine a club's compliance comes from the Rate Clubs section in Rotary Club Central.

Of all district leaders, assistant governors often have the most direct contact with clubs, so your district will rely on you to help those that are struggling. If one of your assigned clubs needs special attention, consider:

- Visiting the club more frequently
- Increasing communication with the club
- Pairing the club with a stronger club in the district
- Contacting the appropriate district committee for additional support

Unpaid per capita dues

Four months after the 1 January and 1 July deadlines, clubs with unpaid per capita RI dues totaling more than $250 are terminated. As an assistant governor, you can work with your clubs to help them avoid termination, and to help terminated clubs get reinstated.

Reinstatement

Reinstatement is allowed as follows:

- Within 150 days of termination, the club must pay all financial obligations to RI and a $30/member reinstatement fee.
- More than 150 days after termination, the club loses its charter and is not eligible for reinstatement.

If a club can't comply with the minimum standards, it can consolidate with a nearby club or voluntarily terminate its membership in RI. Clubs should consider this option only when all other efforts have failed.

GOVERNOR'S VISIT

One of your main responsibilities is to help clubs prepare for the governor's visit. The governor visits each club in the district once during the year and pays extra attention to those that are struggling. The governor may attend an individual club's meeting or go to a multiclub event. The visit is a key responsibility of the governor and an important occasion for each club.

During the visit, the governor should:

- Motivate club members to participate in club and district activities and service projects
- Recognize outstanding club projects and the work of individual Rotarians
- Discuss pressing club matters with club leaders
- Highlight important Rotary initiatives

Scheduling the visit

When you help schedule the governor's visit to each of your assigned clubs, consider the following suggestions:

- Arrange for the visit to coincide with an important club event, such as a charter night, new member celebration or orientation program, award presentation, Rotary Foundation event, or intercity meeting.
- Schedule visits to new or struggling clubs, and to others that require special attention, early in the Rotary year.
- Factor in geography and travel times.
- Ensure that all logistical arrangements are in place for the governor and governor's spouse, if requested.

Preparing for the governor's visit

To build excitement among members and inspire them to participate, encourage club leaders to promote the governor's visit on the club website, through social media, and in the club newsletter. Suggest that clubs recognize members during the visit or arrange for the governor to present awards.

Work with the club to develop an agenda that will allow members to learn from the governor's knowledge and experience. It should include:

- Discussion of the club's progress toward its goals
- Time for the club board to present committee plans, activities, and accomplishments
- Recognition of club projects
- Report from the governor on important district initiatives and RI issues
- Time for questions and open discussion

Help the governor prepare for the visit by:

- Supplying a profile of the club, including the status of service projects, Rotary Foundation grant participation, and member satisfaction
- Sharing the successes and challenges of each club
- Providing an agenda

CONCLUDING THE YEAR

Throughout the year, your assigned clubs will add members, implement new service projects, and support Foundation programs. Finish your term as strongly as you started by making sure clubs feel ready to begin the next year. Consider the following suggestions:

- Acknowledge and celebrate clubs' accomplishments.
- Ensure that clubs recognize what they do well and continue to use those strengths.
- Suggest areas that need more attention in the next year.
- Review club goals and discuss clubs' progress toward achieving them.
- Share your final evaluation with clubs so they can reflect on the year.

RESOURCES

Clubs will look to you for guidance in achieving their goals. Though you may not know all the answers, you should know where to find them. Many resources are available from your district and Rotary International.

DISTRICT RESOURCES

Talk to district leaders to determine which resources are available in your district.

Governor's monthly communication

Provide the governor with news you feel should be included, such as recognition of members, innovative ideas that clubs are trying, and reports from service projects. Encourage club leaders to refer to this communication for the latest district information.

District training events

Before PETS and the district training assembly, consult with the district trainer about the agenda and your role in it. You also can talk with the district trainer about addressing any club-level training needs.

District directory

The district directory lists when and where clubs meet, as well as contact information for district leaders, club officers, and other Rotary leaders.

District website

The district website should provide current news about club, district, and RI activities. Use it to enhance your clubs' public image and to highlight projects.

Social media

Your district may have a presence on social networking sites, such as Facebook or Twitter. Try using social media to increase communication among Rotarians within the district and to promote Rotary to the general public.

ROTARY RESOURCES

Rotary International offers many resources, including information on programs, policies, and members' activities around the world. Use this list to help support clubs, either by finding the information they need or by directing them to a helpful publication, tool, staff member, or leader.

Find contact information for Rotary staff, officers, and appointees in the Official Directory.

Regional leaders

Rotary coordinators, regional Rotary Foundation coordinators, Rotary public image coordinators, endowment/major gifts advisers, and End Polio Now zone coordinators are experts with professional experience and Rotary knowledge in membership development, fundraising, grants, and public relations. Talk with the district governor to determine which regional leaders you will work with. Often assistant coordinators are assigned to specific districts.

Rotary staff

The Secretariat acts as the administrative body for Rotary clubs worldwide. It includes Rotary International World Headquarters in Evanston, Illinois, USA, and seven international offices. Staff members help Rotarians and Rotary clubs to achieve their goals by supporting them in their daily work.
