

How to start a new Rotarian Action Group

Rotarian Action Groups (RAGs) provide assistance and support to Rotary clubs and districts in implementing large-scale community development and humanitarian service projects. They comprise Rotarians, Rotarians' family members, and Rotary program participants and alumni who have expertise in and a passion for a particular type of service. For general information on Action Groups, please visit www.rotary.org/actiongroups.

New proposed Action Groups are subject for review by the RI Global Networking Groups Committee and the RI Board of Directors for recognition. RI has rigorous expectations for new proposed RAGs so you should plan to take plenty of time to build support for your idea and develop a strong proposal. You may wish to discuss your idea with some of the existing RAGs to gain insight into the details of managing an international group, especially on matters such as appropriate membership dues, communication between members, and election and changeover of officers.

Addressing these administrative issues early on can help to ensure the long-term viability of an Action Group. Consider using Rotary's online discussion groups to network with prospective international supporters.

Action Groups are run independently of Rotary International; the official name for any Action Group may not use the word "Rotary" or the acronym "RI". Rotarian Action Groups' website URLs also may not use these terms. Prospective groups are asked to clearly indicate that they are "proposed" or "in formation" on any web or promotional materials. The logo template on the Rotary Brand Center can be used to create the standard logo for recognized Action Groups. Any non-standard logos must be submitted to RI for approval before use.

To apply to become an Action Group, prospective groups must first:

- 1) Secure at least 50 prospective members representing at least five countries and three zones, who share a common interest in a specific worthwhile service activity that advances the Object of Rotary.
- 2) Complement the service activities of Rotarians, clubs and districts and not conflict with the purposes of an existing Rotarian Action Group or Rotary program.
- 3) Be organized in accordance with RI policy.
- 4) Submit an online application and attach:

a. A detailed strategic plan that includes

1. An overview of the group's organizational structure demonstrating capacity to partner with clubs and districts on projects at a global scale
2. Outline of the group's service goals with anticipated action items under each goal
3. Explanation of the types of projects the group intends to support or conduct
4. Description of the founding members' expertise in the subject
5. Description of capacity to assist with international global grants

6. Explanation of members without leadership roles will be actively engaged in the group

b. A communication plan detailing

1. How the group will communicate with existing members
2. How the group will recruit prospective members
3. How the group will communicate with club and district leaders to offer support with projects
4. How the group will promote itself to the broader Rotary world beyond the RI Convention

To be considered by the RI Board for recognition, you must submit an online application, along with a list of prospective officers, a strategic plan and a communication plan (as described in point 4 above), and a copy of the standard bylaws for Rotarian Action Groups, filled out and endorsed by your group.

After a preliminary review by staff and the Global Networking Groups Committee, the Board of Directors will review your proposal at its next available meeting. At any point during this process, suggestions may be offered to you and additional information may be requested from you. After the Board has an opportunity to consider your group for official recognition we will advise you of its decision. Please note that groups denied recognition may not reapply for a period of two years.
